Cyclone[™]
BROILER FEEDING SYSTEM

The Cyclone™ Broiler Feeding System performs from start to finish

The proven Cyclone™ Broiler Feeding System from Big Dutchman provides extra feeding space and great starts.

Pans designed for easy access from start to finish

Great starts begin with the Cyclone pan's low sidewall, which allows for easy access to feed from day one.

The 14" (356mm) pan features 7.7% more feeding space than 13" (330 mm) pans. The proven, durable plastic pans feature a heavy-duty galvanized wire grille, providing maximum support even when used with large birds.

Pans are fixed on the tube to maintain optimum feed space all around the pan. The pan is designed so the movement of birds around the pan causes a gentle motion to assure uniform feed flow.

Featuring one of the industry's best control pans

The proven Cyclone intermediate control pan—widely recognized as one of the industry's best—makes partial-house brooding effortless.

Cyclone intermediate control pans can be installed anywhere on the feed line.

As birds are moved to non-brood areas, the first control pan can be deactivated, automatically converting to a regular feed pan. Then, activate the control pan that's located further down the line—it's that easy.

The Cyclone system—exceptional equipment, dependable performance

From bin to bird, Big Dutchman's broiler management systems offer proven reliability. The Cyclone system comes complete with Big Dutchman's feeder and hopper unit, auger and tube, and your choice of belt-drive or direct-drive power unit.

Round out your system with Big Dutchman components—nipple watering system, feed tank, auger fill system, brooders, and environmental control systems.

Let a Big Dutchman representative configure a Cyclone Broiler Feeding System for you. Contact your Big Dutchman representative to find out why Big Dutchman equipment is the number one choice of poultry producers worldwide.
